LEARNING TAKEAWAYS

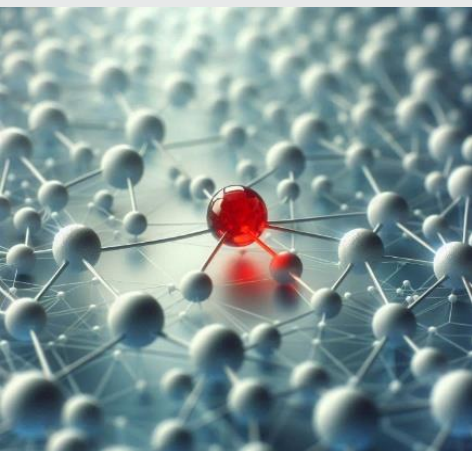

This workshop is tailor-made to meet the demands of workplace challenges and career growth. This together learning workshop seeks to provide clear cut guidance into how to be a key facilitator/contributor to frontline project management and also provides a forum for engaging professionals in exploring their own and other's experiences. You gain the tips and techniques from authorized project management through this highly facilitated three-days' workshop. In this workshop/bootcamp, we will facilitate your understanding of a simple 4-step model that will help you maximize success as a key enabler and project support asset.

Participatory exercises will provoke analysis and discussion to enable participants to:

- Explore and appreciate the evolution of project management practice and skills
- Understand our role and critical position as project management team members
- Strategize approaches to better align our technical works to overall project management
- Understand project management practicality from PM traditional approaches and from the modern approach of people, processes and business environment
- Come away with tools, templates and ideas for future project support work

TARGET AUDIENCE

This workshop is intended for finance, procurement, administrative, HR, IT grants, contracts and secret project managers within the SSD NGO sector space. The two days will compose of modern together learning sessions that will practicality, simulations and related scenarios.

Operations keeps the lights on, strategy provides a light at the end of the tunnel, but project management is the train engine that moves the organization forward.” — Joy Gumz
